NEWS FROM THE HIVE!

Tips for Driving in Bad Weather

Sgt. Glass submitted the following information for students and their families:

- Turn your headlights on anytime you need to turn your windshield wipers on - in rain, fog, sleet, freezing rain or snow. (It is now the law in Virginia that you have to turn on your lights whenever your windshield wipers are on).
- Double or triple the space you normally leave between you and the next car in wet weather. You'll need even more space to stop (up to ten times as much space) on slick roads.
- Brake gently
- Make sure your exhaust tail pipe is clear if you've backed into a snow bank. If your tail pipe is blocked, you could get sick or die from carbon monoxide poisoning.
- When driving on slippery surfaces like ice or snow, use gentle pressure on the accelerator pedal when starting. If your wheel start to spin, let up on the accelerator until traction returns.

What To Do in An Accident

A parent's worst nightmare: your teen's been involved in an automobile crash. While the thought is very upsetting, a few words of guidance from you might just prove to be supportive to your teen during a very difficult time. Even the most level-headed motorists can be shocked, stunned, and more than a little shaken.

Most people will have their adrenaline pumping after a crash and it may be difficult to keep a level head. Simply trying to stay calm can be difficult, particularly if others around you are excitable, too.

Provide these following tips to your teenager. You may even want to keep them in the glove-box of your car, so that your son or daughter has immediate access to the information:

Remain calm.

Check to make sure that you and your passengers are all right.

If another vehicle is involved, check to make sure those individuals are all right.

If anyone at the scene of the crash requires immediate medical attention, call 911 for an ambulance.

If you're judged not to have been at fault in the accident, the other driver's insurance company should pay for repairs, and vice-versa.

Call 911 for the police.

If your vehicle is stopping traffic or is presenting a hazard (and can still be driven), Virginia law requires that you move it to the side of the road.

Teens: Call a parent or guardian.

Make a note of which police department and which ambulance service respond to the crash (you should get the name of the police officer you speak with at the crash scene).

Exchange information with the other driver. This includes the driver's name, address, home phone, work phone, license plate number, year/make/model of vehicle, vehicle identification number, name of insurance company, phone number of agent, insurance policy number and effective date. (Most of this information is recorded on the police report).

If there are witnesses, get their names, addresses, and phone numbers.

Don't discuss the crash with anyone except police.

If you are hurt or shaken up and need help getting home, call someone to pick you up.

Call your insurance agent / claim department.

Record the Scene:

Many insurers recommend carrying a disposable camera in your glove box to record the scene of an accident. A camera can prove more effective than attempting to draw the scene of the accident on a piece of paper. It's easy to forget critical details after an accident, so take notes of any circumstance you think are unusual or particularly relevant to the claim while at the scene.

COLLEGE APPLICATION DEADLINES

Winter Break is fast approaching and so are the majority of college application deadlines. Please be aware that the deadline to turn in all transcript requests for college and scholarship applications that have a deadline before January 14, 2011 need to be turned in to your student's guidance counselor by December 10, 2010.

PSAT RESULTS

The PSAT results and score reports will be distributed to all 10th and 11th grade students who took the PSAT on October 16, 2010 during an informational session on how to interpret their report on Thursday, December 16, 2010. Please review the PSAT results and score report with your student.

ENCOURAGE YOUR HIGH SCHOOLER TO VOLUNTEER IN YOUR HOME TOWN

Teens tend to think that the whole world is focused on them - that "everyone" is looking at that huge zit or "everyone" will laugh if they fail the driver's test. Help your teen think about the needs of others by encouraging him/her to volunteer in your community. They could volunteer at:

A local camp. Any camp could use any extra pair of hands.

The local humane society.

The local library.

The local children's museum. Amazement Square has a teen volunteer program

The local hospitals. VA Baptist and Lynchburg General have teen volunteer programs.

Habitat for Humanity

And so many more!

Teens who give back to their communities often have higher self-esteem and are more courteous to others. They also gain valuable work experience - which will look GREAT on a job resume, college or scholarship application. If your teen isn't sure where to volunteer their time, encourage them to talk to their guidance counselor. We can help connect your teen with a volunteer program that will be right for them.
